May, 12th - 16th

International conference on quantum computing

Read more

📍 Institut Henri Poincaré, Paris 5e
☀️ The International Conference on Quantum Computing 2025 (ICoQC2025) will present the state of the art in quantum computing research from different perspectives.

🔍 During the ICoQC 2025 conference, laboratory visits will be organized for participants on Wednesday afternoon, May 14, upon registration. If you are willing and able to welcome interested visitors to your laboratory in the Paris region, please contact us via the website.

May, 27th

DIM QuanTiP Annual Meeting

📍 Institut Galilée, USPN Villetaneuse
☀️ It's time to look back on the past year. The annual day of QuanTiP is an opportunity to find out more about our activities, hear about new scientific advances and exchange ideas with other community members.

Upcoming events

Registration

March, 3rd - 4th

Workshop : the interplay between tunneling current and optical excitations

- 📍 Amphithéâtre Blandin, LPS, Orsay
- ☀️ The purpose of this workshop is to explore the physical basis for the generation of optical excitations in out-of-equilibrium tunneling junctions operating at high bias in a dissipative environment.

Registration

March, 6th

How to popularize quantum science

- 📍 Webinar, on line
- ☀️ To mark the International Year of Quantum Science and Technology launched by UNESCO, the GdR TeQ is offering a webinar in which Julien Bobroff will teach you how to popularize your quantum research topic in 30 minutes flat.

Registration

April, 28th - 30th

Light-matter interactions and collective effects

- 📍 ENS Paris-Saclay, Gif-sur-Yvette
- ☀️ This workshop aims to bring together several communities interested in coherent coupling between quantum emitters. Topics range from well-controlled cold atom arrays to novel methodologies for creating new light-matter interfaces.
